

RAINS ADD TO OHIO FLOOD MENACE

CENTRAL STATES THREATENED BY FLOODS; INDIANA SUFFERS

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—Flood swollen rivers and tributaries, fed by masses of melting snows and rainfall, continue to do damage today throughout the Central States. In many localities families were forced to abandon submerged homes.

Along the Wabash River, in the vicinity of Vincennes, Ind., volunteer crews toiled throughout the night banking crumbling banks that threatened to break under the strain of the swollen stream and flood the city's business and residential section.

Emergency plans have been made at Vincennes to care for hundreds of homeless should the river leave its banks and flood the city.

One hundred families living to the north of Vincennes already have evacuated their homes. Most of the residences are flooded, many of them submerged.

Flood conditions prevailed along the Mississippi River, inundating farm lands and driving scores of families from their homes. In Tennessee, northern Mississippi and northern Arkansas flood conditions that yesterday forced hundreds of residents to flee their homes continued today.

Relief workers directed by the Red Cross cared for many of the homeless at Greenshaw, Tenn., Dyersburg, Tenn., and Hickman, Ky.

At many points throughout the flood area workers kept up an all night survey of levees and bridges, fearing additional washouts.

THREE KILLED IN GUN BATTLE

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—Two bandits and a policeman were killed, another policeman was wounded and a third bandit was captured here today in a furious battle in an apartment building where the robbers had been trapped.

The dead are: Patrolman Jerry Murphy, Sam Wolf, bandit, and Al Holman, bandit.

Police Lieutenant Edward Conroy was seriously wounded and Sam Waterman, bandit, surrendered as twenty police guns were trained upon him.

PASSENGER FLYING INDUSTRY IN PERIL SAYS POSTAL CHIEF

Companies Operated At Deficit Last Year Says Brown

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 14.—The very life of the air passenger transport industry today is in the balance, Postmaster General Walter F. Brown told the chamber of commerce here today. With a paying load of only 16 to 40 per cent of capacity, all transport companies closed the year with operating deficits of heavy proportions, he said.

"Many reasons may be assigned for this unhappy condition, which threatens with disaster our high hopes for commercial aviation," Brown said. "My own belief is that the men who were most ambitious for the industry and who, with infinite pains, planned the longer passenger routes, perhaps forgot their own first experience in the air."

"The American public was provided with facilities for flying from coast to coast before any considerable number of people had made eight-sewing flights over their native towns. It is significant that the only air passenger carriers who have apparently been able to make a profit are the ones who have been carrying passengers on short flights of from 10 to 30 minutes."

"When our people have made a few practice flights, when they have passed the toddling stage in the air, I believe they will be ready for their air marathons, but can the air passenger carriers hold out until that day comes?"

"The over-production of airplanes by the aviation industry will of course correct itself. The situation, however, in which the air transport industry finds itself may properly occasion the deepest public concern. If that industry should collapse because of lack of public support for the passenger lines, the millions which the government has contributed to encourage commercial aviation, as well as a large part of the public's investment in the aviation industry, will be lost."

"If congress, which has always been ready to aid aviation, will give to the post office department the authority, and if we have the unreserved co-operation of the air transport industry, we believe a solution is at hand. In our judgment the method of determining the compensation of air mail contractors must be revolutionized. The system of paying by pound regardless of distance traveled is manifestly unsound. Such a system compels the contractor to gamble on the volume of mail he will carry and creates an inducement for him to swell his volume of unethical practices."

Brown said the department was urging that congress authorize the postmaster general to contract for the transport of mail by aircraft between such points as he may designate at fixed rates not to exceed $1 per mile for 1,500 pounds of mail capacity. Under such an authorization a schedule of compensation could be set up providing for the payment of thirty cents per mile for a weight space of 100 pounds, with increasing compensation per mile for increasing weight spaces, until the maximum of $1 per mile for 1,500 pounds is reached.

TUNNEY CONDITION IS GOOD FOLLOWING KIDNEY OPERATION

Stamina Of Fighter Helps Ex-Champ Over Ordeal

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Gene Tunney, former world's heavy-weight boxing champion, who underwent a successful operation yesterday at the Presbyterian Hospital for a kidney ailment, passed a restful night and was reported "in splendid condition" today.

At the hospital early this morning it was stated the former boxing champion had rested well during the night and his sleep had been only slightly disturbed.

The strength and stamina of Tunney stood him in good stead during and after the operation, his physicians said. A rapid recovery was predicted.

Bulletins issued last night stated the patient came through the operation in very good shape and it was expected he will be able to leave the hospital in two or three weeks.

Fear that he might lose his right kidney was dispelled for the former ring king with the success of the operation.

Tunney, who was accompanied to the hospital by his wife, the former Polina Lauder, joked and laughed up to the moment he was placed in the hands of the anesthetist.

A stone about the size of a bean was removed. It was said the stone had bothered Tunney for about two months.

A deep incision was made to penetrate Tunney's back and thick muscular walls of the former champion were cut into.

The former champion was removed from the operating room to a suite while still under the anesthetic.

"The operation was a complete success and I'm so glad," Mrs. Tunney exclaimed after talking to her husband's physicians.

OHIO MAYOR DIES; BLUE LAW ADVOCATE

NEW LEXINGTON, O., Jan. 14.—Funeral arrangements for Mayor L. N. Sines of New Straitsville, near here, were incomplete today, pending word from relatives. Since died late yesterday after a short illness with pneumonia.

He was serving his third term as mayor of New Straitsville and gained state-wide notice last summer when he inaugurated the Sunday blue laws in an effort to help dry up the "wettest town in Ohio." He was 45 years old.

WOMAN KILLED

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Jan. 14.—Crushed against a tree when the car which she was driving skidded off the icy pavement here early today, Catherine Miller Purey, known locally as "Bobby" Miller, former champion woman wrestler, was killed. A companion, Mrs. Liza Sreits, of Gloucester, was injured.

REPORT PLEASING TO DRYS

KEROSENE LAMP STARTS FIRE THAT CLAIMS SIX

Six persons perished when fire destroyed the home of Wilson S. Long, near Finlay, O. A kerosene lamp is believed to have started the blaze while the occupants were asleep. The dead include Long, his mother, an invalid sister, a son and daughter and a niece. Mrs. Long and two other daughters were away at the time of the fire. Photo shows farmers searching for the bodies.

SCHACHT TO REMAIN AT HAGUE DESPITE REPORT OF TROUBLE

Premier Tardieu Of France Says Meet Is Successful

THE HAGUE, Netherlands, Jan. 14.—Despite the apparent dissension existing between Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, president of the Reichsbank, and Foreign Minister Julius Curtius, backed by other members of the German delegation to the reparations conference, Dr. Schacht will continue to participate in the negotiations, it was stated today.

Because of the bombshell thrown in the midst of the conference by Schacht yesterday when he declared the Reichsbank could not participate in the bank for international settlements, however, it was reported that the other German delegates have plans afoot for replacing him with the heads of large German private banks.

The president of the Russian state bank, Herr Schroeder, and the president of the Reich Credit Company, Herr Helmann, were prominently mentioned today as being selected to take Schacht's place at the conference in order to organize other German banks to take the place of the Reichsbank in participating in the international bank.

PARIS, Jan. 14.—Premier Tardieu today held a meeting with his cabinet and reported that the second reparations conference at The Hague was fast nearing a successful conclusion.

"All is well," he told his cabinet. "The Hague conference certainly will be concluded by next Tuesday."

M. Tardieu is returning to The Hague tonight. He will go to London Saturday by way of Rotterdam.

FORMER JUDGE MADE DIRECTOR OF XENIA CONCERN ON MONDAY

James Johnson On H. And A. Board; Little President.

Judge James G. Johnson, Springfield, formerly a member of the Ohio Supreme Court and at one time a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, was elected an additional member of the board of directors of The Hooven and Allison Co., local cordage firm, at the annual stockholders meeting held at the company offices Monday afternoon.

Election of Judge Johnson increased the personnel of the directorate to eight. All of the seven present directors were also re-elected. They are: George Little, W. Crawford Craig, Mrs. A. G. H. Baker and J. D. Steele, all of Xenia; C. C. Chase, Cincinnati; George E. Hudson, Dayton, former Xenian, and J. F. Orr, Kansas City, Mo.

George Little was re-elected president of the board for a third term of one year and all other present officers were also selected again for 1930 at the organization meeting of the directors, which followed the stockholders meeting. Other officers are: Mrs. A. G. H. Baker, vice-president; W. Crawford Craig, treasurer and general manager, and J. F. Orr, secretary.

OLD WOUND FATAL

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 14.—A two-year-old wound, caused by a wooden splinter, today had caused the death of Jacob Scholl, 78, after blood poisoning had infected the wound in his foot. Scholl died at his home here yesterday.

STIMSON ANXIOUS TO ARRIVE IN LONDON THURSDAY NIGHT

ABOARD S. S. GEORGE WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—In an effort to comply with Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson's desire to reach Plymouth on Thursday night instead of Friday as scheduled, the engines of the George Washington turned over at full speed today, driving this liner and the American delegation to the London naval disarmament conference toward England at a fast clip.

Secretary Stimson's skipper to make Plymouth by Thursday night, if possible, in order that he might have another full day for the important preliminary conferences with the heads of the various delegations before the party gets under way.

The head of the American delegation is scheduled to confer with Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald of Britain, Premier Andre Tardieu of France, Foreign Minister Ruijro Wakatsuki, of Japan, in the short space of time intervening between his arrival in England and the start of the conference a week from today.

If the George Washington can keep up her present spurt and land Stimson and his aides at Plymouth Thursday evening, the American delegation will arrive in London by midnight, leave a few hours sleep on terra firma, and be ready to undertake the work in hand bright and early Friday morning.

It is understood that this afternoon in the delegation's plans was the result of receipt of a wireless message from Charles G. Dawes, American ambassador to Britain, urging that Stimson arrive in London with all possible speed.

Quite naturally the change in plans aroused considerable speculation as to the reasons why Ambassador Dawes urged Stimson to try and have the liner speeded up.

YOUTH KILLED AND BROTHER QUIZZED

DAYTON, O., Jan. 14.—Roy Williams, 20, is held by police for investigation here today. His brother, Floyd, 24, was fatally wounded by a revolver which is alleged to have dropped from Roy's pocket at their home last night.

The accident is said to have occurred while the two were carrying some home-brew up from the basement.

Police said they destroyed 300 bottles of the liquid.

ARREST THREE FOR ROBBING MEAT CARS

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 14.—A meat thief ring which has been preying on railroads for the past three weeks, was believed broken up today with the arrest of three men here, according to police. More than $10,000 worth of meat has been stolen from railroad refrigeration cars recently.

The "racket," according to police, was for two agents of the ring to board eastbound refrigerator cars, and throw off the meat as the train passed certain crossings. Other members of the gang would pick up the meat and carry it back to Cleveland where it would be sold at reduced prices.

The men under arrest gave their names as Harry Clark, Arthur Carnahan, and William Dobson.

RHINELANDER SNOW-BOUND IN NEVADA

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Jan. 14.—With no word today from the Kip Rhineland rescue party, Harley Harmon, the wealthy New Yorker's lawyer directing the efforts to deliver Kip from his snow prison at Camp Charleston, admitted that he was greatly concerned over the young man's plight.

A truck and tractor have been battling the snow barriers for sixty hours and should have arrived at the camp yesterday.

THEATER ROBBED

DAYTON, O., Jan. 14.—A lone bandit had made his getaway today after relieving a cashier of $9 from the ticket booth of a downtown movie theater here last night.

The money was taken at the point of a gun.

MAN ENDS LIFE

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Jan. 14.—Despondent, according to police belief today, because his wife would not return from California, Anthony Wolfe, 33, a railroad brakeman, committed suicide. Wolfe's wife went to the Pacific coast with their two children after a quarrel it was said.

CONGRESS MUST NOW PASS LEGISLATION PROPOSED BY BOARD

Wets Satisfied By Recommendations; To Push Changes

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—While President Hoover was receiving a generally favorable public reaction to the report of his national law enforcement commission, interest today centered on congress where legislation must be enacted to put that body's plan for bolstering up the present "entirely inadequate" federal prohibition enforcement machine into effect.

Constitutionalists and drys flooded the White House with messages of congratulation, on the proposals of the president and his commission, for tighter enforcement.

On the other hand, wet leaders derived much satisfaction from the commission's warning that in any consideration of the liquor problem congress should not forget "the many historical examples of large-scale public disregard of laws in our past." They took heart over the commission's findings of "a staggering number of what might be called focal points of infection," and prepared to renew their drive for modification on the basis of these statements.

On Capitol Hill, the prohibitionists were marshaling their forces to spur through the recommended legislation, whereby it is hoped to have a court congestion, put new teeth in certain phases of the dry law and unify enforcement agencies under the department of justice.

Wets apparently were lying in wait, hopeful they would be able to tear into the Volstead act when the proposed codification of the assorted dry statutes is brought up.

For the present at least, the anti-prohibitionists will rally around the resolution of Senator Warner (D) of New York, calling upon the president's commission to continue its inquiries and determine whether or not prohibition is, in fact, enforceable and whether it should be modified. A somewhat similar resolution has been introduced in the house by Representative Andrew (R) of Massachusetts.

Meanwhile, Senator Borah (R) of Idaho, whose demands for action on the prohibition question brought matters to a head, retained silent on the report of Chairman George W. Wickersham and his associates. In some quarters this silence was interpreted as lack of approval. It was considered certain he would oppose the Wagner resolution, for he has long felt congress can make up its own mind without the aid of ex parte commissions.

Senator Norris (R) of Nebraska, chairman of the senate judiciary committee, to which the entire report of the commission was referred, said consideration of the proposals contained therein would begin next Monday. He said he had not yet studied the report and therefore refused to comment or speculate on possible action.

WILL FILE CHARGES AGAINST HOPKINS; MANAGER SUSPENDED

Cleveland Council Acts To Remove Executive.

CLEVELAND, Jan. 14.—Written charges against William R. Hopkins, Cleveland's ousted city manager, were to be drawn up today following the executive's dismissal last night by city council.

Voting twice in the most dramatic political spectacle witnessed here since the induction of the city manager form of government, council bowed to the majority power of twelve Republicans and two Insurgent Democrats last night, which voted to suspend the city manager immediately and to make the final date of his removal January 22. The vote was fourteen for and eleven against.

Upon Hopkins' demand that charges be filed against him and that he be accorded a public hearing, Mayor John D. Marshall appointed a committee to draw up the charges. The committee meets this afternoon. On Thursday, council will approve them and some time before January 22, Hopkins will be given his hearing.

Pending council's action of State Representative D. E. Morgan—favorite of the councilmanic majority—as Hopkins' successor next January 27, City Law Director Harold Burton will take over the reins of the city.

The public hearing which is to be accorded Hopkins is expected to be a "joker." Council, although required to answer the demands for a hearing, pulled a "fast one" at last night's meeting which aimed to make it impossible for reconsideration of the ouster of Hopkins.

This was done by reconsidering last night—before the hearing and even before the charges had been prepared against Hopkins.

The only way now that Hopkins' retention or dismissal can reach the council again is for his name to be placed in nomination for the post when the selection of a new manager comes up.

The ouster action was put across last night despite Hopkins' pleading address to the councilmen "not to stain their public careers by treating your manager as a criminal."

"I beg of you," Hopkins said, "not to stain the first page of your record with an act so contemptible; that you do not start out doing something that decent men never do outside of politics."

Thousands of citizens stormed the council chambers last night to witness the ouster proceedings. It was estimated that approximately 7,500 persons jammed city hall—by far the largest group that has ever swarmed a council meeting here.

LOBBY PROBING COMMITTEE SCORES CUBAN SUGAR INTERESTS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Efforts of Cuban sugar firms to "stir up" hostility to the United States in Latin America were branded as the most reprehensible of a host of activities of groups working here in connection with a sugar tariff, in a report made to the senate today by its lobby investigating committee.

The report specifically developed that no propriety was found in activities in connection with which the name of President Hoover was brought into the inquiry.

Correspondence between H. C. Lakin, president of the Cuban company and associates, said the report, left the impression that the Cuban government itself was associated in this work.

The report, submitted to the senate in the midst of debate on sugar rates in the pending tariff bill, found the sugar lobby the smoothest working and most liberally financed of any operating here. It contained no recommendations for legislation. In general it was a summation of the work carried on by all the lobbies interested in sugar. Except for Lakin and the organization working with him, the committee had no censure of the lobby groups, except insofar as the charge of extensive lobbying work carried a shadow of criticism.

NEW CITY MANAGER

Daniel E. Morgan, Ohio state senator, above, is expected to succeed William R. Hopkins as city manager of Cleveland. Republicans, under leadership of Maurice Maschke, reputed political boss, have agreed upon Morgan should they succeed in ousting Hopkins.

STREAMS CONTINUE TO SWELL; TRAFFIC ON ROADS HAMPERED

Abandon Car Service; Damage High; One Death Reported

By International News Service

Exceptionally heavy rains yesterday and early today had brought about threats of serious floods in central and northern Ohio, with no indications of a noticeable let-up until late today. Many farmers and residents of lowland towns have been forced to abandon their homes and retire to neighboring towns and villages.

Ohio streams, especially those in Central Ohio, were rapidly swelling this morning and gave indications of causing considerable property damage. Many streams have already overflowed their banks.

Traffic on many state highways has been temporarily halted due to high water. The Columbus, Delaware and Marion traction line was forced to abandon electric car service when flood waters submerged the tracks near Prospect.

Cause of one death was attributed to the rains. Clarence Wistman, 48, was killed at Steubenville when his automobile overturned after striking a landslide which blocked the highway. The slide was due to the rains.

School buses, late yesterday, stopped operating near Akron on unpaved roads, where the Cuyahoga and Tuscarawas Rivers had overflowed their banks.

Many rivers in southern Ohio were reported slightly above normal but there was no immediate danger that they would overflow their boundaries.

The Muskingum River was reported to be rapidly rising early today and residents of Muskingum County prepared to combat the high water along the highways.

Several state roads in Marion County were ordered closed. Unusually high water was reported due to the overflowing of the Scioto River in that county. Many of the roads there are under several feet of water.

The Olentangy River flooded the lowlands of Delaware County after a rise of four feet in ten hours.

Unestimated damage was done to bridges and bridges in Hancock County, where several were closed, and that the rainfall there has totaled 1.7 inches since last Saturday noon.

At Fremont the Sandusky River hit the 12.6 point today and continued to rise steadily. Flood stage of the river is 13.6. Rain poured down incessantly while the lowlands throughout this district were under water. Cellars of main street stores in Fremont were reported flooded.

SAFETY CONGRESS OPENS IN COLUMBUS

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 14.—The third All Ohio Safety Congress opened here today with approximately 2,000 advocates of safety in attendance.

The meeting which is of statewide interest will become nationwide in its scope when speakers from New York, Wisconsin, Illinois and other states address the different gatherings.

The keynote address of the three-day session will be delivered by Secretary of Labor James J. Davis.

Every phase of accidents and their preventives will be thoroughly treated by the delegates, under the slogan "safety is better than compensations."

Governor Myers Y. Cooper addressed the congress this morning.

BRITISH MARINES SENT INTO SAMOA

LONDON, Jan. 14.—The British cruiser Dunedin today landed a detachment of marines at Apia, Samoa to aid the police in enforcing order in the city, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Wellington, New Zealand.

The step was taken because of the intense feeling of unrest prevalent among the natives growing out of their desires for greater political rights.

Recently more than ten persons were killed in rioting in the city. Although police since then have been able to maintain order on the surface numerous conspiracies for a concerted uprising are reported to be brewing.

TWO GET DIVORCES; JUDGMENT GIVEN; OTHER COURT NEWS

On grounds the defendant was guilty of fraud when he married her, Katherine Bradford has been awarded a divorce in Common Pleas Court from James Arthur Bradford and has been ordered restored to her maiden name of Katherine Holland.

John Morgan has been granted a divorce from Alice Morgan on a charge of wilful absence from home for more than three years.

The Whitcher Fertilizer Co. has recovered a cognovit note judgment for $125.76 against T. B. Frame in Common Pleas Court.

FOUR RELEASED

No indictments having been returned against them by the grand jury, discharge from custody of Charles Randall, Robert M. Craig, Nathaniel Bayless and R. L. Shuey has been ordered by Common Pleas Court.

ORDER FORECLOSURE

The Home Building and Savings Co. has obtained a judgment for $2,218.72 against Frank Holmes in Common Pleas Court. Foreclosure and sale of mortgaged property was also authorized.

CASE SETTLED

According to an entry on file in Common Pleas Court the suit of Marcus Fitzpatrick against Michael Mankat has been settled without record at the cost of the defendant.

ESTATE VALUED

Gross value of the estate of William J. Martin, deceased, is placed at $1,695.75 in an estimate on file in Probate Court. Debts, including the cost of administration, amount to $453.60, leaving a net value of $1,242.15.

POSTAL LAWS HIT FANCY MAIL BOXES

Postmaster C. S. Frazer believes that the following change in the postal regulations will be of interest to all patrons along the rural mail routes of Greene County: Under an amendment to the postal laws, which became effective January 10, the posts or other supports upon which rural mail boxes are erected shall be of neat design and may be of wood, metal or concrete, of suitable strength and dimensions. They may be either round or square, plain or ornamental, with or without fixed or movable arm and shall be painted white. The use of effigies as supports, or of supports intended to represent figures or mechanical objects, either grotesque or otherwise, is prohibited.

OH, THOSE EXAMS!

STUDENTS of Xenia Central senior high school have been burning the midnight oil these days, endeavoring to digest in one or two nights what they are expected to have learned in school in the last four months, in preparation for the semi-annual bugbear—first semester final examinations, which begin Wednesday and continue through Friday morning this week. Exams begin each day at 8:30 a. m. and 12:30 p. m. Students are given a maximum of three hours and a minimum of one and a half hours to finish the examination in each subject. The mid-year tests cover the first four months of the school year.

GRIEVE SENTENCED TO PEN THREE TIMES

Raymond D. Grieve was ordered committed to Ohio State Penitentiary Monday by Common Pleas Judge R. L. Gowdy on three separate sentences that are to run concurrently.

Changing his plea from not guilty to guilty to an indictment returned by the January grand jury charging him with issuing a $10 check last May 28 on the Xenia National Bank to C. H. Nell, proprietor of the Nell Hotel, London, former Xenian, without having sufficient funds in this bank, Grieve was sentenced to from one to three years in prison.

Grieve was also given sentences of from one to five years each on two old grand jury indictments, accusing him of disposing of mortgaged property. It was charged he disposed of personal property valued at $300, mortgaged to the Springfield Loan Co., December 8, 1928, and that he also disposed of personal property worth $600, mortgaged to the American Loan and Realty Co., June 16, 1928.

THE SPIRIT OF YOUTH carry on—Avoid that future shadow

AVOID THAT FUTURE SHADOW*

By refraining from over-indulgence, if you would maintain the modern figure of fashion

Avoid the snags along the common-sense path to fitness and fashion. Don't let over-indulgence deprive you of the tantalizing contour of the modern figure. Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. Eat healthfully but not immoderately—when your eyes are bigger than your stomach, reach for a Lucky instead. Coming events cast their shadows before. Avoid that future shadow by avoiding over-indulgence, if you would maintain the graceful, modern figure with its captivating curves.

Lucky Strike, the finest Cigarette you ever smoked, made of the finest tobacco—The Cream of the Crop—"IT'S TOASTED." Everyone knows that heat purifies and so "TOASTING" not only removes impurities but adds to the flavor and improves the taste.

"Coming events cast their shadows before"

"It's toasted"

*Be Moderate!... Don't jeopardize the modern form by drastic diets, harmful reducing girdles, fake reducing tablets or other quack "anti-fat" remedies condemned by the Medical profession! Millions of dollars each year are wasted on these ridiculous and dangerous nostrums. Be Sensible! Be Moderate! We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. We do declare that when tempted to do yourself too well, if you will "Reach for a Lucky" instead, you will thus avoid over-indulgence in things that cause excess weight and, by avoiding over-indulgence, maintain a modern, graceful form.

And in your automobile, no matter where you are, a gasoline which suits the local climate. That means Shell 400 "Extra Dry" Gasoline. Startling new refinery procedure, based on the study of 15 years of weather, keeps Shell 400 "Extra Dry" exactly suited to the climatic demands of each 50-mile circle on the map. The result is a weather-wise motor fuel which provides uniformly fine performance everywhere. Shell 400 "Extra Dry" Gasoline turns into a dry vapor that starts right now... burns completely... makes crankcase dilution no longer a danger. One cold morning's experience with Shell 400 "Extra Dry" will show you some new tricks about easy starting.

SPRING VALLEY W. C. T. U.

HAS REGULAR MEETING

The January meeting of the Spring Valley W. C. T. U. was held at the home of Miss Mary Eiam, Spring Valley, last Thursday.

The meeting was opened by reading of devotionals in charge of Mrs. Amos Mendenhall with Mrs. H. O. Collins and the Rev. and Mrs. Ralph Knoop assisting.

A short business session followed, presided over by the president of the Union. Plans were made to celebrate Victory Day Thursday, January 16.

The topic "Alcohol and its Effects" was discussed by Mrs. Ralph Watkins and members of the Union gave many interesting facts concerning the subject.

At the close of the program the hostess served a delicious refreshment course and a social hour was enjoyed.

MRS. FAWCETT ENTERTAINS

GLEANNERS CLASS MONDAY

About thirty members of the Gleanners Sunday School Class of the First M. E. Church met at the home of Mrs. Harold Fawcett, N. Galloway St., for the regular monthly meeting Monday evening.

Following the usual business meeting the evening was spent in playing games and contests. Mrs. Fawcett won both contests.

At the close of the meeting the hostess assisted by Mrs. George Geyer, Mrs. Virgil Martin, Mrs. Fred Haines, Mrs. Karl Buck and Miss Ethel Wolf, served a light refreshment course.

B. P. W. CLUB TO SCHOOL GIRL IS ENTHUSIASTIC ABOUT KONJOLA

Lost Many Pounds in Weight—Tells of Fine Work by New and Different Medicine

"One thing is certain . . . I shall always praise Konjola for what it did for me," said Miss Viola M. Gray, Jefferson, near Ashland, Ohio. "While attending school and working hard to make my grades, I

MISS VIOLA M. GRAY became ill from stomach trouble. My food would not digest and I was undernourished. My weight dropped from 118 pounds to 96. I did not sleep well and became nervous and run down and fell behind in my studies.

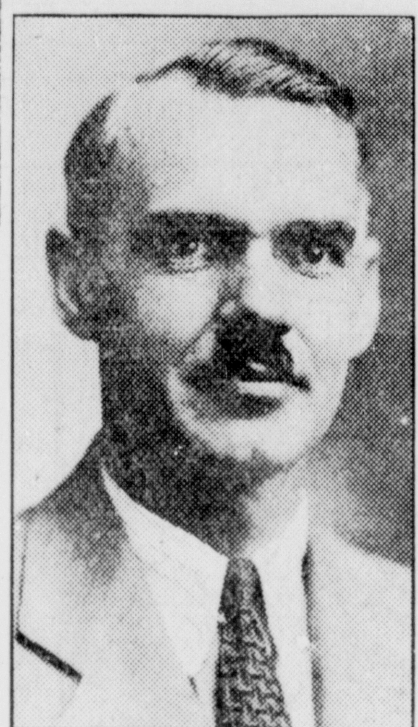

"I tried many treatments and tonics but none of them helped me until I began taking Konjola. I began to improve in general health from the day I took this new medicine. In two weeks my stomach was normal again and I had such an appetite that I was hungry all the time. My food digested properly and I took on weight rapidly. My friends asked me what was doing it and I was only too glad to tell them about this new medicine. I shall never be without it."

Konjola is a new and different medicine of 32 ingredients, 22 of them the juices of roots and herbs long known for their medicinal value. Konjola works quickly and thoroughly at the root, the fountain of the ill of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, and rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness. Konjola is not designed to give mere temporary relief, but to bring new, glorious and lasting health.

Konjola is sold in Xenia at the Wallaher Drug Store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

INCORPORATE NEW AUTO AGENCY HERE

HARRY J. CHAPPEL

The Chappel Motor Co., Xenia, to do a general garage business, was incorporated at Columbus Tuesday, with authority to issue 100 shares of stock of $100 each, and begin business with $2,700 capital. Incorporators are Harry J. Chappel, Fred W. Lang and Helen M. Lang.

The company has its place of business on W. Second St. and has the exclusive Xenia agency for the Hudson and Essex line of automobiles. Harry J. Chappel, the Xenia agent, was formerly Xenia manager of The Beckett Auto Co., Springfield, which, until recently had the local agency for these cars.

LEGION DRIVE FOR MEMBERS GROWING WARM AS END NEARS

With each day bringing the American Legion membership campaign nearer to the windup of intensive work on January 31, rivalry between the two teams captained by Dr. H. C. Messenger and Paul Turnbull is increasing. More than a hundred memberships for 1930 have been obtained to date by both teams, leading to the prediction by Commander Harry M. Smith that the goal of 200 members would be reached before the last day of this month.

Members who belonged to Foody post in 1929 and who have not yet paid up for 1930 were warned by the commander to be on the lookout for workers who are planning a personal solicitation of those who are tardy. "Have your dues ready to turn over to these workers when they visit your home or place of business," Commander Smith urged today, "thus making certain that Foody post swings into the second month of the New Year with a large active membership."

Another word for quick action in the matter of paying 1930 dues was added by Adjutant Ernest Mangan who stated that those who did not pay before February 1, probably would miss the March issue of The Legion Monthly, as the dues must be in state headquarters before March 10 to assure that the member receives the March issue.

SELECTING JURY TO TRY ARCHITECT FOR HOSPITAL BRIBERY

Thayer Accused Of Soliciting Bribe From Contractor

CANTON, O., Jan. 14.—Selection of a jury in the bribery trial of Albert L. Thayer, New Castle, Pa., architect, accused of having sought a $7,500 bribe in connection with the building of the new Molly Stark tuberculosis sanitarium, got under way here today.

Thayer is specifically charged with soliciting a $7,500 bribe from George Melbourne, head of the construction company which had the general contract for building the $1,000,000 hospital.

Authorities here predict that the trial of Thayer will be one of the most hotly contested legal battles ever staged in Stark County. According to Prosecutor James M. August, the decisive question that will undoubtedly arise, is whether Thayer, as architect for the project, can be classed as a "public official." "Only public officials," August said, "can be prosecuted under the Ohio bribery laws."

Thayer is the second man directly concerned with the building of the Stark sanitarium to face charges of bribery. Charles A. Fromm, former president of the Stark County board of commissioners, was convicted of soliciting a bribe in Cleveland several weeks ago. He was sentenced to serve one to ten years in the penitentiary.

Fromm faces another indictment here, on a charge of having a private interest in a public contract.

XENIA ATTORNEYS ARE ON COMMITTEE FOR BAR ASSEMBLY

Two Xenia attorneys have been appointed by State President William G. Pickrel, Dayton, to the reception committee for the mid-winter meeting of the Ohio Bar Association which will be held in Dayton, January 23-25.

They are William L. Miller and C. L. Darlington. The meeting will attract 1,000 lawyers from all parts of the state and will be marked by an exceptional program, bringing before members of the organization Judge F. W. Geiger, utilities commission; Hon. A. W. Gessinger, securities commission; Hon. Thomas Gregory, industrial commission; Hon. Luther Day, Chief Justice Carrington T. Marshall of the supreme court of Ohio and many other figures in state legal circles.

Reports of twenty-two committees, appointed to study many legal problems, will be made at the Dayton meeting and many important changes and innovations in Ohio laws will be recommended.

Among the social affairs on the program will be the gridiron dinner and dance on the night of January 23 and the annual bar association banquet on the night of January 24.

REFORMED CHURCH WILL HOLD ANNUAL BUSINESS SESSION

The annual congregational business session of the First Reformed Church will be held at the church Wednesday evening beginning at 6:30 o'clock with a covered dish supper.

The business session will begin at 7:30 o'clock with the chairman, H. E. Eichman, presiding. During the meeting three elders and four deacons will be elected to serve for a term of two years. Those whose terms expire at this meeting are William Priest, Dr. B. L. Lackey and Walter Watkins as elders and Roy Sutton, P. C. Bankard, James Hawkins and Paul Harner as deacons.

Reports from William Priest, as treasurer of the congregation, Miss Julia Schwebel as treasurer of the Sunday School and H. E. Eichman as trustee of the Hivling Fund, will be read and acted upon at the meeting. The auditing committee will also submit a report. Various auxiliary organizations, Missionary and Aid Societies and the organized classes of the Sunday School will be called upon for reports.

ELECT J. A. FINNEY DIRECTOR OF XENIA BANK HERE TUESDAY

J. A. FINNEY

Filling a vacancy by the death of Attorney Marcus Shoup, Attorney J. A. Finney, former city solicitor of Xenia, was elected a director of the Xenia National Bank at the annual stockholders' meeting held Tuesday morning.

The following six other directors of this bank were re-elected: A. E. Bealey, H. E. Beavey, Henry Feltz, H. S. Leonard and M. L. Wolf. The directors will hold their annual organization meeting Tuesday afternoon.

Annual stockholders' and directors' meetings of the Commercial and Savings Bank will be held also Tuesday afternoon.

STREAMS IN GREENE COUNTY NOT ACTIVE

Although practically every stream in Greene County is swollen due to the continuous rainfall of the last few days, none of the rivers or creeks were reported out of their banks Tuesday and on the contrary were receding slightly, minimizing the flood menace at Spring Valley, where village voters defeated a proposed bond issue at the November election to provide flood protection, and at New Burlington, high water was reported but lowlands were not inundated and no damage has resulted.

COUPLE LICENSED AND MARRIED IN COURT

KILLING two birds with one stone, as it were, William C. Cunningham, 1815 W. Fifth St., Dayton, truck driver, and Bessie Wilson, Cedarville, who obtained a marriage license at the bureau in Probate Court Tuesday morning, were married right afterward in the record room of the court, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. W. H. Tilford, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, who chanced to be in the court transacting other business.

The couple was granted the license by Miss Allegra E. Hawes, deputy probate judge. When she asked the pair the name of the minister expected to marry them, they said any preacher would do and asked her advice in the matter.

Recalling from experience that she had frequently phoned every minister in the city on such occasions, only to find them all away, Miss Hawes noticed that the Rev. Mr. Tilford was in the court room on other business, and asked him if it would be convenient for him to unite the couple.

The minister was willing and they went into the adjoining record room where the couple said the vows with Miss Ruth West, stenographer, and Probation Officer J. E. Watts acting as attendants.

Both the man and woman had previously been married once, the license disclosed.

staying for the last twenty years on account of his health, has been received in Xenia.

Dr. Munger was born near Alpha and after finishing his high school course entered the American School of Osteopathy, Kirksville, Mo. After leaving this school he moved to New Mexico, where he had resided ever since.

He is survived by his widow, two sisters, Mrs. Grant Smith, Dayton, and Mrs. Matilda Hering, Springfield; and two brothers, J. E. Munger, Alpha, and Dr. P. H. Munger, of St. Paul, Park, Minn.

The body will be brought to Dayton, arriving between 5:30 and 6 p. m. Tuesday and funeral services will be conducted at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the Beaver Creek Reformed Church with interment in Beaver Creek Cemetery.

TO CONDUCT GRAIN MARKETING SCHOOL HERE NEXT TUESDAY

Wm. L. Ingles, federal grain supervisor of the United States Department of Agriculture and R. A. Wallace, marketing specialist of Ohio State University will be the principal speakers at a grain marketing school to be held in the assembly room of the Court House, Xenia, Tuesday, January 21.

Mr. Ingles will give a grain grading demonstration. Two reels of motion pictures on grain inspection and supervision work will be shown and some of the problems confronting both the producer and the elevator will be discussed.

Mr. Wallace will explain the Farmers' National Grain Corporation, a new corporation set-up under the direction of the Federal Farm Board. The Grain Corporation is a business institution, created by the farmer-owned grain marketing organizations as a means of coordinating their operations and improving their merchandising policies.

According to County Agent E. A. Drake it is expected that loan funds will be placed by the Farm Board with the grain corporation; the grain corporation will loan to the sales agency, and to the elevator. The farmer producer will make his loan through his local elevator.

The meeting will be called at 10 a. m.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

FEAR BANISHED—Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you; not as the world giveth, give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid.—John 14:27.

COUNTING-HOUSE GENERALS

"The country which first discovers the truth about modern generalship and therefore chooses as its commanding officers self-made millionaires," says Bertrand Russell, "will be invincible in the next war."

The suggestion is not new, although it purports to have been a discovery of the World War. The Continental Congress acted upon it, at times, with unexpected results. John Adams, wise in a political way, would have been glad to see the congress elect all of the general officers of the Continental army annually; and if some great men, as he said, should feel obliged to go home in consequence he did not believe the country would be ruined! The cause of the revolting colonies came nearer to being ruined by the contemptuous treatment of tried and able officers than by any other one factor. Schuyler was ousted for the incompetent and dishonest Gates; Greene, Sullivan and Knox threatened to resign; and General Arnold, a brilliant soldier, was turned into a traitor.

Inexperience and politics have played havoc in every war in which this country has been engaged. They let the short-term levies in Washington's poverty stricken army take home with them five or six thousand muskets a year as keepsakes. After von Steuben had been in charge a year the number of muskets annually lost to the army was twenty. Von Steuben was a professional soldier. The saving he effected for Washington's army amounted to 800,000 French livres a year.

We had the same experience in the Civil War with untrained officers in all branches of the army. We had it again in the Spanish war. We had it in the World War. The money wasted in this country and the lives sacrificed abroad in 1917-18 through incompetency due to lack of familiarity with military affairs points anywhere but toward invincibility. Only a superfluity of cannon fodder can win victories under such circumstances.

REAL WARNING

With its treasury empty, Chicago is wallowing in debt and snowdrifts, which can't be cleared away because its credit is gone. Automobiles have to pick their way into the loop on the car tracks kept open by a private corporation. Garbage is piling up behind apartment houses, a result of the breakdown of the disposal department. The 2,000 city employees recently laid off in a desperate effort to cut expenses have had to be re-employed. A sharp upward turn in the curve of fires forced the reopening of fire stations closed in an attempt to lock the door of the city treasury, after its funds were lost, strayed or stolen. The four days during which 500 policemen were on the economy bench saw robberies in Chicago increase 66 per cent. The menace contained in the situation caused underwriters to threaten to increase fire and burglary insurance rates if more firemen and policemen were not employed.

Whether Chicago's bankruptcy is the result of dishonesty or of incompetency or both is secondary to the fact that the second largest city in the wealthiest country on earth is obviously and admittedly "broke." The banks refuse to loan it more money. The legislature may or may not come to its rescue; but if the legislature should pass emergency legislation to increase Chicago's borrowing power, we fail to see that this would have any other effect than to encourage the city government to go on borrowing money to pay the interest on money already borrowed. Anti-administration critics say that Chicago's ship went down because its hull had become encrusted with the barnacles of graft and waste. William Hale Thompson claims it went aground on certain fiscal measures proposed by "the reformers." The fact that Chicago has been living for a decade and a half beyond its income sufficiently explains its present dilemma, without allocating the blame.

The consequences of living beyond one's means overtake cities, as inevitably and inexorably as they do citizens. Chicago is down at the heel and out at the knee today for the simple reason that it has lived the life of a spendthrift. Other cities in this country need not hold up their hands and thank God they are different from Chicago. A lot of them are different only in the pace they are following toward the goal at which it has arrived. The others will arrive in due course if they persist in regarding Chicago's financial debacle, with its restriction of essential services to life and property, as merely "an horrible example," without profiting by it to safeguard their own finances from waste due to dishonesty or dumbness.

The farther back the scientists trace the history of the human race and reveal its various vicissitudes, the fainter become the indications that it is traveling anywhere in particular.

THE HUNTER'S MILLION

The Izaak Walton League does well to remind the hunters of America that they are spending $150,000,000 a year for firearms, ammunition, and equipment, and only $10,000,000 in the maintenance of their sport. In other words they spend $15 to take game, for every dollar they spend to keep up the supply. And it is said there are 7,500,000 hunters in the country. Landowners and groups of interested people must engage in husbanding the game crop if there is to be a crop for sportsmen to harvest.

NOTHING ABSOLUTELY FIXED

Harry F. Ward, well-known religious teacher in New York, says there is a real danger that religious ideals will become out of date and unimportant. There can be no absolutely fixed standard in religion or religious belief. There is such a thing as truth but so far nobody can be sure that he has all of truth within his understanding. What seems to be truth today may be somewhat changed by tomorrow's findings. Professor Ward is right. No matter how high or how plausible ideals may be, they may have to be changed. Thinking people will not fear change. Only the lazy mind does not change or desire to change.

MANNERS

Too bad about manners. Youth today, moving much faster, jumping at life so much more eagerly, seeking excitement and thrills so much more actively than young people of an older day, have little time or inclination for manners. Manners take time, seem to be unimportant. Youth prefers the short cut to what it wants. Courtesy is too slow. Writing in Harper's Magazine, Mr. Borden says: "Do manners really matter any more? Is courtesy important? Elegance of demeanor, charm of gesture, grace of phrase, aren't these worn-out hypocrisies, unsuitable and worthless relics of an elaborate insincerity that we are glad to be rid of?"

"And the answer of youth seems to be: 'No more nonsense of that sort. No more humbug.' And the young women say 'We've no time and no use for fine clothes, fine manners, fine phrases. If you want to be treated as men, so much the better. I'll save us time.'"

"And as most of what they say to one another is said on the telephone and to the accompaniment of a jazz band, what they do say and the way they say it do not really seem to matter at all."

BULLET PROOF GLASS
When the Dowager Queen Mother of Roumania; King George—'Lor' love 'im—and Ciro Terranova, of Pelham Manor, ruler of artichokedom, roll down the rue in their Rolls Royces, they loll back in cushioned ease and peer out at Hol Polloi through bullet-proof windows.

Mussolini, Italy's Big Ben, also uses bullet proof glass in his cars. It's popular with Central and South American presidents, but in New York, except for military and business purposes, its use is limited to motorists who have good reasons to believe that they may be shot at. And while the demand for bullet-proof glass in cars is increasing, its cost—$2,000 per car—will confine the trade for some time to rulers and racketeers.

STARS AND STOCKS

Evangeline Adams, New York's leading star gazzer, said over the radio the other evening that the late J. P. Morgan "had the world before him because he had the stars behind him."

According to The Lady in The Stars Smock, it was through the stars that J. P. determined whether and when to enter the stock market and whether and when to assume the alternating roles of bull and bear.

Morgan wasn't the only financier to seek her aid and through her, the aid of the stars, Miss Adams revealed. Among others who went to her for advice and assistance she named the late Seymour Crowell, former president of the New York Stock Exchange.

What Chance for Borah If After Presidency Job?

WASHINGTON. — If the G. O. P. were nominating a presidential candidate to day would the nominee be Mr. Hoover or Senator William F. Borah?

Of course politicians do not assume for a minute that precisely today's conditions will prevail in 1932. On the contrary, they know that the law of chances is all against it.

Just at this split second it is the Washington consensus that Senator Borah has scored a regular series of almost perfect bullseyes of popularity. The senator normally is a good marksman, but he himself doubtless realizes that so remarkable an exhibition is more or less accidental.

The occasion must be exactly right. The issue must be exactly right. Every shot must hit it exactly right. The audience must be in exactly the right frame of mind to acclaim the stunt at its maximum value.

It is only a fluke when all these things happen simultaneously.

They did happen so this time, but their effect will begin to wear off presently. It will not wear off altogether, but part of it will. Early in 1932 or thereabouts the senator will have to repeat his performance, with all its accessories, to spellbind the country again at precisely the presidential juncture, and it is more than questionable whether he can do it. That is to say, he may be able to repeat the performance, but the "break" will have to be in his favor to provide the accessories.

At the very best, the odds would be on Mr. Hoover. Still, the senator might hustle him.

Senator Borah has not pleased all the politicians, by any means. He has made a good many of them exceedingly sore instead.

It is the populace which applauds him.

However, all that the senator cares for the politicians, so long as he has the multitude rooting for him, could be packed in a mighty small compass.

The fact is that, to the non-political bystander, Senator Borah has his tremendously admirable moments.

The politicians declare cynically that his powerful utterances make no difference with legislation. They do, though. He had more than any other one man to do with throwing a crimp into the tariff grab which the old guard was confident it would be able to get away with at the recent special session of congress. He may have accomplished it rather by his speeches' appeal to the home folk than by any influence they exercised over his fellow senators. How he did it is immaterial; he did it.

Quite properly the public gave him credit for a magnificent fight. That was his first bullseye.

Then he lashed out at prohibition enforcement. He pronounced it the bunk.

Wets and dries equally are under obligations to him for doing so.

The wets have been yelling all along that it is the bunk, and here pastime to haul a vintage rocking chair out on the front lawn and sit there in his shirt sleeves, with a copy of Emily Post on his lap, snapping his red suspenders at his swank neighbors as they chug past in their $2,000 Hispano Suizas.

people's stock answer. With all the machinery of government at their command—with an offer, (which they turned down of $25,000,000 to push their campaign, at the last session of congress—with the evidence all about them—every time any notable individual has pointed to the plexus of weaknesses and dishonesty in their system, they have had the crust to howl "Prove it."

Whereupon the notable individuals have backed down, one after another—not having the courage of their well-founded convictions.

But Senator Borah? Invited to "put up or shut up," he put up in a fashion to ring the White House's front door bell.

The put up or shut up method worked on Senator Robert B. Howell not so long ago. Not, the senator complained, that he was unprepared to put up, but that the country refused to notice him when he tried to.

Well, the country noticed Senator Borah, when he put up.

The nation has grown so accustomed to seeing all hands meekly tossed into the deck whenever the "Prove it" bluff is pulled, in the prohibition poker game, that it takes a loud crash of blue chips, shoved forcibly to the center of the table, to let the whole republic know it is being called at last.

It was thus that Senator Borah called it.

Dry as he is, I know wets who would vote for him for president.

Peter's Adventures

By Mrs. Florence Smith Vincent

BLIND AS A MOLE
"Now for some fun," whispered Biffer to Peter. "Here comes old Snap-Beetle, and if you don't laugh until your sides ache then I'm no son of a Gun-Beetle!"

Peter stared at the stranger, slowly approaching, and thought he looked like anything but a merry fellow. In fact he had a down-in-the-mouth air, or the boy's eyes deceived him.

"What does Snap-Beetle do that's so funny?" whispered Peter, mouth close to Biffer's ear. But that young Gun-Beetle wasn't so careful not to be overheard.

"Isn't what he does, it's what we do to him that makes the fun," said Biffer. "Just you watch the sport, now!" Biffer stepped a pace forward and put a claw to his mouth.

"Hello, Cousin Snap-Beetle!" he shouted.

The body of the little brown beetle whom Biffer called "Snap-Beetle" twitched as though it had been strung on wires. His two pairs of arms flew out in all directions. He turned his head this way and that, eyes almost popping out of his poor little head. It was quite plain to be seen Cousin Snap-Beetle was scared half to death. He had not dreamed anyone was near him. And for all his peering, still Snap-Beetle saw no one.

"Here we are, right in front of you!" cried Biffer. "Follow your nose and you'll find us. Dear me, Cousin Snap-Beetle, no mole could be more blind than you when you are out walking. Why do you walk with your eyes upon the ground? There are lots of things you miss by being so stupid."

At this Cousin Snap-Beetle angrily tossed his head.

"I may be a little absent-minded, young Cousin Biffer, but I am not meek nor a fool. I walk where I like and look where I wish and no beetle your age is going to tell me my business. I see you now, Cousin, but I wish I didn't. Not one of you is any prize beetle I've seen more pleasant sight in my life."

Diet and Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.

Author of "Diet and Health" and "Diet for Children"

Gas
"Dear Doctor: I have been on your diet for reducing, and I want to tell you it is all you claim. I weighed 248 pounds when I started seven months ago, and now I weigh 196—a loss of 52 pounds. Am not trying to reduce so rapidly now. I have a lot of trouble with gas. Please tell me what to do for it."

"Do you think I should reduce any more for a while? I am 5 feet 5 inches tall. How much should I weigh?"
MRS. H.

Gas means fermentation in the intestinal tract, and it may be caused by several things, Mrs. H. It can come from fermentation of excess carbohydrates (starches and sugars) in the diet, or the fermentation of excess protein—especially flesh foods and eggs—with putrefaction, or perhaps an imperfect mastication of these foods. Another cause is some derangement of the intestinal tract so that proper digestion doesn't go on. The derangement of the tract needn't necessarily be in the intestines proper or stomach; it may be a chronically inflamed appendix or gall bladder, for instance.

You reduced a lot. Did you follow the foundation diet carefully? Usually, on the proper reduction diet, all troubles from gas disappear, as well as many other troubles. It might be wise for you to go on a day or two of liquids to clear out the tract—say, alternate with fruit juices and milk. If you are constipated, you should take measures to overcome that. If it is the ordinary kind of constipation, perhaps you need more bulk, such as the addition of bran, or agar, or psyllium seeds! and if it is the spastic type of constipation with mucous stools, you will need less bulk and your fruits and vegetables should be pared to a whine. Our article on Constipation covers the diet in both cases.

You should have a check-up by a physician, Mrs. H. It may be possible that you have some gall bladder trouble. It is very common in those who are overweight, or have been overweight. I should have gall bladder trouble, I probably would have been much worse if you hadn't reduced.

Yes, I would continue the reduction slowly, for you still have a lot of excess weight, as you are only 5 feet 5 inches tall, and should weigh around 140. Be sure to get the foundation diet, so you will get all the elements you need. For those who are interested, the foundation diet for reducing is contained in our pamphlet on Reducing and Gaining. (See column rules for obtaining this.)

Early Symptoms of Tuberculosis
Mrs. L.—Night sweats, or excessive sweating at any time, may be an expression of lowered tone of the nervous system from a chronic toxemia from some cause such as absorption of poisons from infected organs—tonsils, gall bladder, appendix, etc.—or from absorption of poisons from the intestinal tract through prolonged wrong diet. It may also be a symptom of tuberculosis, especially if accompanied by loss of weight, great fatigue or small exertion, and general lack of vigor.

Your husband should have an examination by a competent physician, preferably a lung specialist, Mrs. L.

For those who are interested, we have an article on Tuberculosis. See column rules.

Living and Loving

By MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: I am coming to you with my problem. We can't solve it ourselves."

"I met a man the second night of December, 1929. He is all a woman can desire. I know that I have found the only one I ever have or ever will love."

"I have been married 11 years to a man I married to get away from home. I have three children. He is a married man and has two children. He had a sick spell last summer and his wife left him and took both children. Now she has come back to him. The are just living under an agreement because of the children."

"He has told me he loves me. My husband is very good to me. I have a nice home and my kids are healthy, but I am not happy and never will be away from the one I love."

"Dear, please don't tell me I am committing a sin in loving him."

He has told me that if his wife ever left him again he would send for me and we will go where no one will ever know us. I have promised to go with him regardless of anything. He is the dearest thing in the world to me. Please tell me what to do, and please don't tell me to give him up."

"BROWN EYES AND CURLY HAIR."

One can't help that attraction between a man and woman that we call love. Any one who marries without love runs the risk of meeting some one later on, who attracts him or her—just as you have.

I wonder, however, just how much like heaven your life with this man you love would be if you left your husband and children and went with him.

The world is a small place. No matter where you went I am afraid someone you knew would run across you. Your conscience would cause you some unhappiness, too. I am afraid, for even if you do not love your husband, you acknowledge he has been good to you. And the children would be a constant pull on you.

You see dear, there is no such thing as perfect happiness in such a case. You think you are miserable without the one you love. But you could be happy, even with him, without your babies, knowing that you did not treat your husband fairly, and that your friends will condemn you for your actions.

You think you do not care about your friends. But it is pretty hard to know that you have no friends, or only a few pitying ones who have stuck because they think you "need them later on."

Try to picture your life under these circumstances. You would know what your children were doing, or whether they were receiving proper care. I am afraid that thought would be a fair sized serpent in your Eden.

Your friend is wise to take his wife back and to make an agreement with her that they will keep up the home while the children need them both. Better do the same in your heart, if no openly.

Stand by your own, and let this love make you more thoughtful of others, and truly better by its influence. I don't believe, then, that you will ever have anything to regret.

BETTY LEE: Oh, these boys! Betty Lee! He's probably getting tired of you and getting a crush on some other girl. What to do? If you are a little school girl, as judge from your letter and—er—spelling—you will suffer bravely awhile and then get interested in another boy. That's the best way dear.

M. J. L.: Thank you very much for your offer of help to my correspondence. I haven't his real name and address, but appreciate your offer. You certainly are not intruding in making such a kind offer.

SA AND LONELY: I think your girl friend is getting temperamental. Sad and Lonely. I think I'd have a talk with her. Tell her you think you are getting on nerves, or she is getting tired of you, and that you will not see her for awhile, not until she has absolutely made up her mind that she wants you back for good. The leave her and go out with other girls, whether you enjoy it or not until you hear from her.

This will show her that you mean business, and if she really cares for you she will realize she can't "blow hot and cold." If she is beginning to tire of you, it will only break it off that much sooner, as you would lose her in the end anyhow.

How To Achieve Beauty

By MME. HELENA RUBINSTEIN

Clean Skin At Bedtime For Beauty

Preparing for bed at night can be a long and luxurious beauty rite or it can be the briefest possible process. Most of us, when we are very tired, after a late party or theater engagement, or a hard, long day, like to make the bedtime between home coming and sleeping time as short as it can be. Too many of us, I am sure, jump into bed without even properly cleansing the face, and this is an extremely bad procedure. No matter how weary I am, no matter how late the hour, I always go through the same short treatment for my skin, every night of my life. It comprises three steps: Cleansing, stimulating, nourishing. And usually another step is added, the use of compresses dipped in a soothing warm extract, and placed over my eyes, to draw out the strain and weariness and keep them fresh.

For you a variation of this treatment may be needed. Some skins need firming or tightening in addition to the other steps. And some skins must be washed as well as cleansed and supplied with a cleansing cream. Find out exactly what your type needs, and then reduce it to the simplest terms as night beauty treatment.

You will, of course, cleanse with a cleansing cream suited to your own skin. I personally use either pasteurized cream, or one made with a base of water lily juice. There are a number of good clean cream available. Follow them with a swift application of volatile stimulant, if your skin is very dry or very sluggish. Or, unless of these conditions is present, sinuate with a skin clearing cream, and leave this on overnight. The dry skin will need nourishing cream, one made with soothing oils or a good anti-wrinkle cream. The mature skin will usually need such nourishment. This should be patted in around the eyes and mouth and wherever there are lines.

When the eyes are tired, do either herbal eye packs steeped in warm water as compresses; pieces of cotton, dipped in warm, soothing extract, designed for the same purpose. You sleep so much more soundly, and wake with a clearer vision. I take just this little advice, and your eyes at night.

HODCARRIER'S ART THRILLING DENVER AFTER EXHIBITION

DENVER, Jan. 14.—Michael Edward O'Brien, whose painting "Viewing the Oaks," was the first picture sold in an exhibit of works of native Colorado artists at the Denver Art Museum, is a hodcarrier by vocation.

O'Brien started painting by night, he said, because of an uncontrollable urge to create. He has put his visions on canvas in spite of almost overwhelming obstacles. He cannot understand his talent, though the listener is impressed by the tremendous force it seems to hold over O'Brien as he tells his story.

About twenty years ago O'Brien was loafing around a saloon, he said.

In Meditative Mood
"I was in a meditative mood and I had a stub of a pencil in my hand and I started to draw a scene," he continued. "Almost without realizing it I had seen in a theater in Cincinnati. I remember it had a bridge across the Thames in it. Well, I drew that as I remembered it and it was good. My friends all crowded around and insisted that I keep it up and make more pictures."

O'Brien kept up his work intently, but never took it quite seriously, drawing or painting only when the urge overtook him. But with his recent work, which created something of a sensation, he decided to go in for painting seriously.

"Viewing the Oaks" depicts two tiny figures dwarfed into insignificance by the towering oaks about them, and they are subtly poetic, a bit pathetic and more than a little appealing.

Mrs. O'Brien, an active vivacious little woman, did not like her husband's dabbling in painting, she said. Besides not having too high an opinion of his art, she said it kept him from his meals and bed. When he sold his picture, however, she began to take his avocation more seriously, she admits.

Gnarled Hands
O'Brien's hands, gnarled and work-worn, do not seem capable of producing the delicate shadings and blends his pictures show. And his casual shows signs of much wear. He has been more than slightly handicapped by his inability heretofore to buy materials he needs. On cardboard, paper, over other pictures, he has painted new scenes.

But he refused to be discouraged. His lapses from painting, which were frequent, he said, were due to lack of desire to create—a mind and body dulled by hard work. Museum authorities, enthused with "Viewing the Oaks" are arranging an exhibit of more of O'Brien's paintings in the near future. It would be of interest, they believe, not only because of the merit of the pictures, but also because of the background of the artist.

Meanwhile O'Brien is going modestly about painting additional scenes.

Eleazer
Mr. and Mrs. Walter Edgington and family are confined to their home, suffering from the grip.

Howard Weaver, small son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Weaver, is ill with the grip.

Miss Helen Smith and Miss Mary Love of Dayton, were the guests Sunday of Miss Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Smith.

Mrs. L. H. Hartwick is spending several days with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Maddux, of Frankfort.

Mrs. Laura Earley was hostess to twenty members and friends of the Ladies Aid Society of Eleazer Church at her home Thursday afternoon. After a short business session, Mrs. Earley served a two-course luncheon.

Dayton Roosevelt's victory over Xenia Central indicated for one thing that the Buccaneers offensive scheme of this will have to be reorganized or at least popped up to put a punch in it. The Bucks appear in need of another scoring threat at forward. Joe Smittle, playing a running guard post and directing the offense, is mainly relied upon for points, along with Birch Bell at forward and Hurley at center. Price is good for one or two buckets per game, but Michael and Schleppl, while playing exceptionally good floor games, are not making the points expected of forwards. It is probably none of our business, but it looks like Mike should shoot often at the basket, especially when he is in a good scoring position.

Xenia may not have to look very far in its search for a center next season. John Hurley, regular tip-off man this season, is a senior, and David Short, a sophomore, looms as a likely prospect to fill his shoes. This latter whose name is a misnomer, is almost, if not as tall as Hurley and plays center on the reserve Buccaneers quintet. He is only 16 and has not attained his full growth. By next season or the following one he should be a towering boy. The best feature is that he is a good shot, and from long range in particular, finds it next to impossible to miss the basket. In the recent reserve game at Sidney he astonished the fans in practice with the accuracy of his long-distance shooting. All he needs to round out into a capable center is more experience, especially in floor work and holding his own in rough and tumble scrimmages. It is also too bad that Shaffer, a little senior on the second team, is not bigger. If reports are true, Shaffer possesses as much if not more, natural basketball ability than any member of the squad but is handicapped by lack of size.

Following is a letter received from Coach R. Maurice Jones, Jr., East High School mentor, concerning the prospects of East High's basketball team this season:

"At present I am pleased with the showing of the team although it is in the adolescent stage. The squad is quite improved from last year; every man seems willing and ready to do his best. Out of a squad of twenty-five it is hard to pick the starting five. I cannot make any special mention of any certain players as stars, but will say that the squad of twenty-five is a star within itself.

"I want to take this liberty to thank The Gazette for the publicity it is giving East High School and the team, and assure the editorial staff we are grateful."

ONE OF THE BEST!
FOR the size of the city, the Xenia municipal water works plant is one of the finest in Ohio.

This compliment to the Xenia municipal water system was paid recently by Thomas R. Lathrop, assistant engineer of the Ohio Department of Health, who conducted a regular inspection of the plant.

In his report the state inspector rated the plant as in first-class condition.

XENIA TWP. SCHOOL BOARD ORGANIZES
Editor, The Gazette:

The notices sent out to Board members read as follows: For organization, to pass appropriations resolution, and to provide for a depositary.

After the roll call, D. H. Barnes presented his resignation as clerk and gave his reasons which are copied in the minutes. After accepting the same, the Board proceeded to organize in the regular manner.

After the organization was completed, the new president took the chair and we proceeded with the business. At the suggestion of the new president, Mr. Barnes was retained for January to assist the new clerk. He consented to do so, after receiving the unanimous consent of the Board.

The acts of School Board are only known by their minutes. There was nothing in them about ratifying anything, as there was nothing to ratify. This talk about turning over books; and rulings by

ON H. AND A. BOARD

J. G. JOHNSON

Judge James G. Johnson, Springfield, who was added to the board of directors of The Hooven and Allison Co. at the annual stockholders meeting Monday, has been prominent in Democratic politics. Early in the nineties he was chosen by his fellow citizens of Springfield as their mayor, and the majority was his sole political office until in 1910, when he was called to service on the Ohio Supreme Court bench, of which he was a member for many years. At one time he was also a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor of Ohio.

GAS RESTORED WHEN WORKMEN COMPLETE MAIN LINE REPAIRS

Gas service to Yellow Springs and other consumers in that vicinity was restored about 1 o'clock Monday afternoon when repairs were completed to a break in the high pressure gas line from the Ohio Fuel Gas Co., which occurred in the Virginia fields two miles east of Cedarville shortly before 6 a. m. Monday. The line was formerly the Logan Gas Co. line.

Yellow Springs was without gas for seven hours and the break also had its effect in Dayton through lowering of pressure for several hours, but Fairfield and Osborn, also served by the same line, were not entirely cut off, it was announced. These two villages were taken care of by means of an eight-inch gas line out of Dayton.

The explosion, which blew up an eighteen-foot joint of the eighteen-inch high pressure line near Cedarville, was attributed by Irving Rider, this city, a company employee to the wet ground, the water undermining the pipe at that point. No one was at the point at the time of the blast, however, and no injuries were sustained by anyone.

As a result the gas pressure in Dayton was weakened but was not shut off entirely as there are two other avenues of supply for Dayton's gas, officials of The Dayton Power and Light Co. announced.

CEDARVILLE
Miss Irene Shannon of Ashtabula, O. spent a few days last week with Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wright.

Dr. and Mrs. J. N. Strain had for their guests last week, their daughter, Miss Genevieve Strain of Chicago and Miss Dorothy Strain of Mercer, Pa.

Miss Abbie Russell, of White Plains, N. Y., has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Dean, for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Confarr entertained the Dinner Bridge Club at their home at 6 o'clock Monday evening.

The Tuesday Night Rook Club was entertained this week by Mrs. Frank Townsley, at her home on North Main St.

Mrs. Cora Crawford and daughter, Mrs. Lois Ole of Chicago, are spending several days with relatives and friends here this week.

The regular meeting of the D. A. R. was held at the home of Mrs. Ethel Buck Tuesday evening. Miss Emma Lyons, Red Cross nurse, gave the address of the evening.

President O. A. Dobbins of the Greene County Farm Bureau, will not seek re-election as president of the organization for a second term. He and Mrs. Dobbins are planning a trip to Europe in the spring and summer and he cannot give his time to the work. At present, Mr. Dobbins is speaking each week at various farm institutes over Ohio.

Pockinpaugh is all bunk. They were not mentioned. Rulings by Pockinpaugh have about the same effect on the acts of the School Board that took place a year ago, as it does on the weather.

I don't know who gave out this stuff, but it sounds like the stuff you see in a weekly printed over east. I am sure no School Board member gave any such information. It is unreasonable and in fact it is unthinkable that any member of the Board would misrepresent himself like the article in the Monday Gazette. I invite the writer to inspect our minutes, get the facts for the public or else keep hands off.

These contentions and petty jealousies did not originate in Greene County but from outside selfish interest, which has some representatives in Greene County, who try to dominate our schools. If the people had just one look in at the methods they resort to, I am sure things would be very different in Greene County.

MUSIC CONFERENCE TO HAVE ELABORATE PROGRAM IN MARCH

Information concerning the Music Supervisors' National Conference to be held in the Stevens Hotel at Chicago for five days beginning March 24 has been received here by William Hugh Miller, supervisor of music in local schools.

Not less than 7,000 music workers in the public schools of the United States are expected to be in attendance. During the conference the theme of "Music for a more abundant life" will be discussed.

The conference program is not complete to date but such prominent men and women as Dr. Edward Howard Griggs, Frantz Proschowski, Dr. John Erskine, Helen Hay Hoyle, Mrs. Ruth Ormaway, Guy Maier, Eric Clark, Eugene Stinson, Percy Scholes and Rudolf Ganz are expected to appear and address the conference.

Glenn Frank, president of the University of Wisconsin and Sir Henry Hadow of England, are expected to accept invitations to speak. Sectional meetings will discuss further opportunities to provide all phases of school music work, singing, playing and intelligent listening.

Three of the big musical events of the conference have definitely been arranged. One is a big band demonstration; second is a concert by the National High School Orchestra of about three hundred players of which Miss Marguerite Zeller of Jamestown is a member and third is the National High School Chorus concert in which four hundred outstanding singers from every section of the country will take part. All these events will be held in Chicago's auditorium where for many years great operas have been presented.

Dr. Frederick Stock will conduct his Symphony Orchestra in a complimentary concert. Two glee clubs from Northwestern University will sing. The Chicago University chorus will give a concert and Paulist Chorists will be heard in a Sunday evening concert in the Stevens Hotel. A fine program is promised by the Chicago public school music department when large groups of Chicago school students will sing and play.

PORT WILLIAM
Our pastor, Rev. O. E. Vice, has announced that revival meetings will begin the second Sunday in February and a cordial welcome is extended to every one to attend these meetings.

Mr. and Mrs. Gideon Mason and daughter, Miss Marguerite, were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Dunlap and family in Wilmington.

The members of the Dover W. C. T. U. met at the home of Mrs. Isaac Kersey Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Burch Wolfe were the Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Ellis.

The many friends of Eugene Reynolds and Carl Surface will be glad to know that they both are recovering nicely from their recent operations for appendicitis.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Baker and daughter, Palmetta, entertained Sunday with an elaborate turkey dinner a number of relatives from Bowersville and Jamestown.

Friends and neighbors met at the home of Carl Surface Friday and made them a wood chopping. The Surface family greatly appreciate this act of kindness.

Mr. Guy Carroll of Richmond, Ind., accompanied by his brother-in-law, Mr. Joshua Brown of Xenia, was calling on friends here Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Woods and family were Sunday dinner guests of Wilbur Woods and family near Xenia.

The Ladies Sunday School classes will meet at the parsonage Thursday afternoon, January 16 for their social meeting, Mrs. O. E. Vice, Mrs. Charles Devore, Mrs. Millie Bone being the hostesses.

TERRY IS HOLD-OUT
NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Billy Terry, New York Giants' first baseman, was reported today to have joined the ranks of the holdouts. Terry, it was said, has demanded a contract calling for a salary of $25,000 a year.

Terry had a batting average last season of .372.

TWO OHIO VICTIMS OF PARROT FEVER

Photo shows Mr. and Mrs. Percy Q. Williams, of Toledo, Ohio's first known victims of psittacosis, parrot fever, which has startled health authorities in the east and middle west. Physicians say Williams and his wife contracted the disease from two parrots brought from Cuba. Mrs. Williams died a few days ago, while her husband is dangerously ill. Their son, above, has shown no symptoms of the disease.

BOWLING

Breaking a tie that had existed for the position between the two teams, the Red Wing Co. bowling team regained second place in the Recreation League by winning two out of three games from the Benrus Watch quintet Monday night.

J. Anderson rolled a series of 590 for the winners, followed by H. Spahr with 577, while White topped the losers with 543. Box score:

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION
That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 20 years, and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative safe and pleasant.

No sugar in the "keynote" of these little griping-coated, olive-colored tablets. They help cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you should find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets.

Thousands take them every night to keep right. Try them. 15c, 30c, 60c.

JOHN SHERMAN'S WAY

"The Home of Thrift"

After the Civil War when Congress had talked all around the problem of how to resume specie payment, John Sherman arose to the occasion and delivered himself of the afterward famous declaration that "the way to resume is to resume."

This directness and positiveness may be well applied to your financial affairs. The way to save is to save. There are few cases in this land of plenty where this cannot be done if one is willing to curb his inclination to indulge in unnecessary and extravagances and ignore the competition that possibly comes from his improvident neighbor.

This Association is located at the main cross-roads of the city and is ready to assist you in your plans for the year with Security, Service, and Return equal to the best to be had. Let us send you a Booklet of Information.

FOR THE LOVE OF PAT

By C. L. WEBB © 1929

READ THIS FIRST:

Following her identification of a wounded aviator, believed a victim of aphasia, as her twin brother, Jimmy, Patricia Blair, heiress and Red Cross driver, is kidnapped in Paris. Another aphasia victim, known only as Jimmy, and believed a spy, is registered at the base hospital at C. Lieutenant Rex Dallard, Dr. Frank Gordon, and Nurse Margery Lynne, friends of Patricia, believe a plot is afoot to rob her of her fortune. At news of her disappearance, and the removal of the man they believe to be the fake brother, from the hospital, the three proceed to Paris, taking with them the youth Jimmy, whom they are certain is the real twin brother. Dallard and Gordon are both in love with Pat.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER VIII

But now the lieutenant knew he had been altogether wrong in his preconceived notions. He knew he had been in love with Patricia Blair from the moment she had smiled at him with such friendly good nature in the curve of her mouth and the light that glimmered in her humorous dark eyes, and he heard the slight huskiness of her music-box voice. It might be, of course, that he had known and loved her in some former existence. That possibility, however, was too hazy to contemplate in this prosaic age. He was in love with a real, vivid, lovable woman.

Paris is a big city and Time is a whizzing merry-go-round. October gilded into chill November.

Then one morning Rex saw Margery Lynne hurrying down the corridor to the little private room he occupied and his heart leaped with the anticipatory joy of likely good news.

Instead of good news he received a jolt that almost broke his heart. Jim is gone—disappeared from the hospital in the most mysterious manner. The only clue is furnished by a gas victim in the bed adjoining the one formerly occupied by Jim. This soldier had seen a man dressed as an orderly push a screen around the young man's bed. After a few minutes the orderly had led Jim, now dressed in a khaki uniform, down to and through the door opening into the main corridor. That was the last he had seen of either. He had never seen the orderly before.

The kidnapping—for it could be termed nothing else—of Jim was a heartbreaking blow to Rex Dallard and Margery Lynne. It was an eventuality that neither had even considered, although when it came both felt it was something that should have occurred to them as soon as they began to associate Jim with Pat's brother. By that time neither Dallard nor Margery had any doubts in their own minds but what Jim was the real brother of Patricia Blair. They were correspondingly certain that the man then posing as James K. Blair was an imposter. His pretense of being unable to recall his former life was simply to avoid being questioned.

That this man had already received and was now waiting for further instructions in the game being played was apparent to Dallard and Margery.

And yet they were helpless in any idea they might have to aid Jim or Pat Blair. They had no proofs save that which their own eyes had seen and their common sense and reason told them. And such evidence, of course, would be useless in any court.

It was while they were trying to hit upon some plan of action that a very pompous looking man arrived at the hospital with the man who was then posing as the man who was then posing as James K. Blair was the legally and lawfully appointed guardian of James K. Blair and Patricia Blair, twin brother and sister, and the administrator of their estate, now being held in trust. He had come, he said, upon receipt of a cablegram informing him of Jimmy Blair's injury, to take his two wards, Jimmy and Patricia, back home to New York.

When told that the girl, Patricia, according to the story vouched for by Dr. Frank Gordon, had been kidnapped, Mr. Maxwell, smiled indulgently.

"Just another, I suppose, of the dear girl's little escapades," he said with large tolerance. "She is probably equal at the moment, sitting sum and pretty in her charming apartment in New York. The chances are that she's laughing at the credulous ones in here who have been so foolish as to worry over her little kidnapping hoax. It's one of Patricia's best ideas of a joke. She'll be waiting for us without question!"

Had there been any lingering doubt in the minds of Rex Dallard, Margery of Doctor Gordon that Pat Blair's disappearance was the result of a well-cooked plot, this man's manner and attempt to make light of a matter that should have caused him worry and anxiety deepened that doubt.

"She may be waiting for you Mister Maxwell," said Dallard, a rasp in his voice like a file on saw teeth, "but if so, she's waiting somewhere in Paris, and the piece you that of her choosing, let me tell you that! You laughed at the idea that she had been kidnapped, and you belittled her character by assuming that she is playing a contemptible joke on her friends here! Anyone privileged to know Patricia Blair knows she is utterly incapable of the action you ascribe to her. What your reasons are for trying to discredit her I can't imagine, unless you are engaged in some dirty plot to defraud her. That she is the victim right now of crooked work I am virtually certain, though I can't say that I know positively that you are implicated in that work."

But your remark, Mister Maxwell, said Dallard, growing angrier as he proceeded, "your remark about the likelihood of Patricia Blair being in New York at the present moment, is not only a reflection on her loyalty but an insult to our intelligence! For since the night she was grabbed and whisked away in a limousine, police have been constantly on the watch for her! Even if it were in peace times it would have been very difficult for her to have left France in a vessel, in these war times with the extra watchfulness on land and on sea. It would have been absolutely impossible! So, if Patricia Blair awaits you anywhere it is somewhere here in Paris!"

Dallard had spoken with an accurate knowledge of the conditions prevailing during the last days of the war. Paris, it was known, was the stamping ground for women spies from various enemy camps. Any woman trying to leave the country became at once the object of police espionage.

Had Pat Blair made such an attempt she would have been apprehended at the very start. That she was still missing was conclusive evidence that she had made no move to leave the city.

Dr. Frank Gordon who, with Lieutenant Dallard, Nurse Lynne and the hospital superintendent made up the small committee receiving the guardian of the Blair twins, heard the man's libelous aspersions on the honor of his beloved comrade with feelings closely akin to murder.

"I agree with the Lieutenant, Maxwell," said the doctor, his voice trembling with suppressed anger. "You know very well you have no reason for expecting to meet Miss Blair in New York upon your return—if you go back at once. It's my firm conviction that you were aware of her disappearance before you came here today. Otherwise you would have received the information with some show of surprise, if not anxiety."

Sitting where he could study, practically unobserved, the face of the man, Maxwell, during Dr. Gordon's brief arraignment, Lieutenant Dallard saw that which gave rise to a new suspicion in his mind. He saw, too, that Herbert Foxhall Maxey had no hesitations. Nor was he a man to play a subordinate's part. If Maxwell was implicated in the plot behind the kidnapping of Pat Blair it was safe to assume that he was the head and brains of that plot.

There was something else, the Lieutenant's keen eyes had noted. The man representing himself as the legal guardian of James and Patricia Blair had complete confidence in himself. The slightly devious smile that played about the thin-lipped mouth at the unmistakable accusation conveyed in Dr. Gordon's words indicated clearly the dominant ego of the man. Nothing marred the serenity of his bland assurance. That he had come fully prepared to establish the validity of his claims, Dallard was convinced after his study of the long, satyr-like countenance. "Foxy" Maxwell played his cards with a careful hand and a sure intent.

THE EVIL OF GAMBLING

Joke Planned On Wager Turns On Principals; One Fined, T'other Facing Charge.

AN alleged $20 wager made between Randall B. Hickman, postmaster at Wilberforce, and Howard Peters, this city, both colored, that each could get the other locked up in Jail last Christmas night was echoed in Municipal Court Saturday when Peters was fined $10 and costs for intoxication and Hickman pleaded not guilty to a similar charge. He will have a hearing next Saturday morning at 9 o'clock.

Authorities reveal the pair first appeared at Police Headquarters early Christmas evening, but Patrolman Charles Thompson laughed off a request made by Hickman that his companion be placed in a cell on a charge of driving an auto while intoxicated.

Falling in this, Hickman and Peters visited the County Jail, where Hickman repeated his request to Sheriff Oliver Tate. Upon receiving Hickman's promise that he would appear in court the next day to file an affidavit against Peters, the sheriff incarcerated Peters.

When Peters was safely behind the bars, Hickman explained to the sheriff that he was only joking and asked him to release the prisoner in order that he could collect his winnings and they would be on their way.

At first the sheriff declined to free Peters but eventually let him go later that night, instructing both Peters and Hickman, however, to report in Probate Court at 2 p. m. the following day for questioning by Judge S. C. Wright. Neither man appeared in court, however, it is said.

The sheriff, it was disclosed, did not drop the case but filed information in Municipal Court accusing the pair of intoxication. Peters was fined $10 and costs when he pleaded guilty Saturday before Judge E. Dawson Smith, while Hickman, after first pleading guilty, changed his plea to not guilty and will have a hearing Saturday.

It is not a matter of record whether Peters, who lost the wager, paid the $20 bet to Hickman.

The Theater

Fox announces an ambitious schedule for the screen year beginning August, 1930 and extending to July, 1931, which may be of interest to the customers of this column.

John McCormack, the concert singer, completed his first singing and talking movietone at a cost of more than one million dollars last Saturday. Raoul Walsh, director of "The Cock Eyed World", will soon start "The Oregon Trail", the first historic talkie.

"Common Clay", a Harvard prize play by Cleve Kincaid, will be made as a talkie by Victor Fleming. Janet Gaynor will be heard and seen in Molnar's "Lilium", directed by Frank Borzage. Jack London's "The Sea Wolf", will be produced by John Ford, winner of the annual Photoplay gold medal award for his "Four Sons".

Mark Twain's "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court" will be filmed in sound by David Butler, who produced "Fox Movietone Follies of 1929".

Talking picture rights have been obtained for the following novels, which movietone productions will be made: "Basquerie", by Eleanor Mercein; "The Mad Song", by Mabel Wagnalls; "The Last of the Duanees", by Zane Grey; "The Country Chairman", by George Ade; "The Painted Lady", by Larry Evans; "The Country Beyond", by James Oliver Curwood.

Dramatic successes from the stage which will be made as talkies include "The Man Who Came Back" by Jules Eckert Goodman; "The Fatal Wedding" by Theodore Kramer, whose old stage thriller will be made as a melodramatic novelty; "The Yellow Ticket", by Michael Morton; "The Dancers" by Gerald du Maurier.

In addition rights have been obtained to several dramatic and musical compositions of which the first will be Beatrice Lillie and a cast of English artists in "The London Revue".

Owen Davis, dean of American dramatics and George Middleton, head of a list of thirty dramatists and dialog authors now working for Fox in California. To these will be added S. N. Behrman, author of "The Meteor" and "Serena Blandish".

Twenty-one directors are now at work at the Fox studios, and nine new pictures to complete this season's program, were placed in production last week. These will be followed by five more during this month. At present 300 talking and musical artists are on the pay roll.

Twenty Years '10- Ago -'30

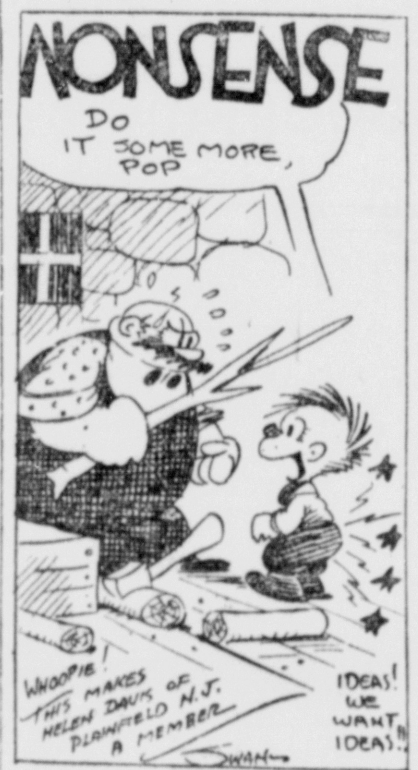

The administration nomination committee of the Commercial Club has selected the following men to fill that ticket: John W. Prugh, president; H. E. Eavey, vice-president; Dr. H. L. Sayre, secretary; R. D. Adair and Jacob Kany, directors.

A well known aeronaut and pilot, H. H. McGill, the only one handed balloonist or aerialist in the world, has consummated negotiations with the Nicaraguan Government for the use of an airship and a dirigible balloon and will leave tomorrow for New Orleans.

The following standing committees for the year were appointed at the meeting of the Board of Education Thursday afternoon: Finance, Orr, Adair, Flynn; superintendent teachers and discipline, Schlesinger, Johnson, Messenger; janitor and sanitation, Messenger, Flynn, Kany; care and repair of school property, Adair, Kany, Messenger; curriculum, books and library, Johnson, Schlesinger, Orr; superintendent of schools, purchase of supplies, Flynn, Adair, Orr; insurance and fire protection, Kany, Johnson, Schlesinger.

"AUNT LUCIA" CAST READY FOR OPENING NIGHT WEDNESDAY

Reserved seats will go on sale at Geyer's at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning for the home-talent production, "Aunt Lucia", a collegiate comedy in three acts, which will be presented at Central High School auditorium Wednesday and Thursday nights under auspices of Alpha Theta Chapter, Delta Theta Tau Sorority.

A large cast trained by Miss Marjorie Drake, director for The Universal Producing Co., Fairfield, Ia., will present the comedy. The cast includes many well-known amateur performers besides a number of newcomers, and has been whipped into shape by nightly rehearsals under Miss Drake's direction.

The scene is laid in the drawing room of a college fraternity house during home-coming time. Among those expected is Lucia Wakefield, a millionaire aunt of one of the girls. "Jerry", portrayed by Bob Owens, attires himself in women's apparel as a joke and is mistaken for Aunt Lucia, which results in several of the men making violent love to the fake aunt while it also gives "Jerry" an opportunity to pursue his love making among the girls.

His girl is "Ethelyn", the part taken by Miss Dora Hayward, who has the leading female part. Others in the cast are: John Harvey Collins, as "George"; Paul Collins as "Dick"; Miss Helen Spahr as "Betsy"; Miss Dorothy Devoe as "Molly"; William Kennedy as "Prof. Gaddis"; Miss Mary Mangan as "Dean Howard"; Chas. Wood as "Butter and Eggs"; Isadore Hyman, as "Collins"; Roger Chambliss, as "Dr. Seymour"; and also as the fraternity president; Mrs. Fred Snyder as "Mrs. Seymour"; Charles McPherson as the first freshman; Don Chambliss as the second freshman; Phillip Campbell as the glee club president. John Wood, Walter Wilson, Fred Flynn, John Purdom, Phil Frame and other members of the Downtown Country Club will be members of the glee club.

Miss Mildred Mason will lead a "baby pageant" in which a number of youngsters of the first four grades in school, will take part. A girl's dancing chorus will also be a feature, the chorus including Jean Marshall, Elizabeth Irwin, Helen Benbow, Evaline Evans, Mary Hayward, Hester Creamer, Katherine Overstreet, Donna Harness, Dorothy Crawford, Helen LeSourd, Dora Hayward and Jane Harner.

Musical specialties include "Out in the New-Mown Hay", "Breeding Along" and "What Do I Care", by the girls' chorus; "The Love Song", sung by Misses Helen Spahr and Dorothy Devoe and John Harvey and Paul Collins; "Baby Land", "Sleepy Head" and "Boogey-Boogey Man", sung by Miss Mason and the children. "Say It Again" is the finale. Miss Ethel Bertram will be the pianist.

CONVICTED HERE OF LIQUOR CHARGE

William Lewis, Beaver Creek Twp. farmer, was found guilty of a charge of possessing liquor by Probate Judge S. C. Wright following a hearing Monday afternoon. Sentence was deferred for three days, pending the filing of a motion for a new trial.

State and federal prohibition inspectors, co-operating with deputies of the Montgomery County sheriff's office, who raided Lewis' farm home last December 16, were forced to move 500 bushels of corn in order to locate twenty gallons of alleged moonshine liquor, hidden in a corn crib in the barn yard. A bottle of coloring was also confiscated. The liquor was concealed in four containers and what made it difficult for the raiding officers was that each container was hidden in a different part of the crib.

BELLBROOK

Mr. Shaffer, of New Paris, was a visitor in the village last week. Alonzo Edwards, the official county dog warden was here on official business one day of the past week.

All the cellars in the southern part of town are flooded owing to the recent continued rains. Weaver and Casey have made one shipment of their Burley tobacco which will go on sale in Kentucky on Wednesday.

The public in general is invited to attend the Farmers' Institute at the new school house on January 29-30.

Mayor William Fulkerson, of Spring Valley, was here calling on his friends Thursday.

John Spittler, of Dayton, paid the village a visit one day last week. Everett Heston, of Dayton, was a visitor Thursday in the home of his father-in-law and mother-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Frank Williams.

Protracted meeting at the town hall closed Sunday evening. There will be regular services on Tuesday, Thursday and Sunday nights of each week, and Sunday School every Sunday morning.

Attorney William Swaney was in the village on legal business last Monday.

CIVILIAN GIVEN DECORATION

FRANK E. HERING
Editor Fraternal Order of Eagles' Magazine

Frank E. Hering, South Bend, Ind., former national president of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, is the only civilian with a decoration from the War Mothers of America. Mr. Hering is editor of the Eagle magazine and chairman of the national old age pension and is a faculty member and trustee of Notre Dame University. He was honored due to his efforts in behalf of war mothers and as the father of "Mother's Day."

The order has bestowed its decoration on only three other men, all in military service. Mrs. Mary E. Spence, Milwaukee, past national president, bestowed the decoration at a testimonial dinner in South Bend. It consists of a gold medal, bearing the War Mothers' emblem, and a bar, inscribed "Father of Mother's Day." Hering made the first recorded appeal that a day be set aside for mothers in May, 1904, during a Memorial Day address at Indianapolis.

MUST REGISTER FOR PENTECOSTAL MEET AT ONCE IS URGED

Greene County people expecting to attend the Centennial Pentecostal Convention and Pageant on Christian Unity at Columbus are urged to send in their registrations without delay, by the Rev. J. P. Lytle, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church.

The Rev. Mr. Lytle was informed Monday that reservations so far received indicate that difficulty will result from delay on the part of people who expect to obtain seats at the last minute. The registration fee of $2 for any one of the four conventions includes a reserved seat, valued at $1.50, a year's subscription to "The Ohio Christian News" and entrance to all sessions of the convention.

Other seats for the pageant may be ordered at seventy-five cents and one dollar, and such orders may be forwarded through the pastors of local churches. Upon request, "guest" stickers may be had.

Why Folks Stay Fat

Not always because of over-eating, but because a gland is weak. That gland largely controls nutrition. When it is weak one may nearly starve, yet stay fat. Modern physicians the world over now combat this great cause of obesity. And excess fat, in late years, has been disappearing fast.

Marmola prescription tablets contain the chief factors which they use. People have used them for 22 years—millions of boxes of them. And countless slender figures everywhere now show the amazing effects.

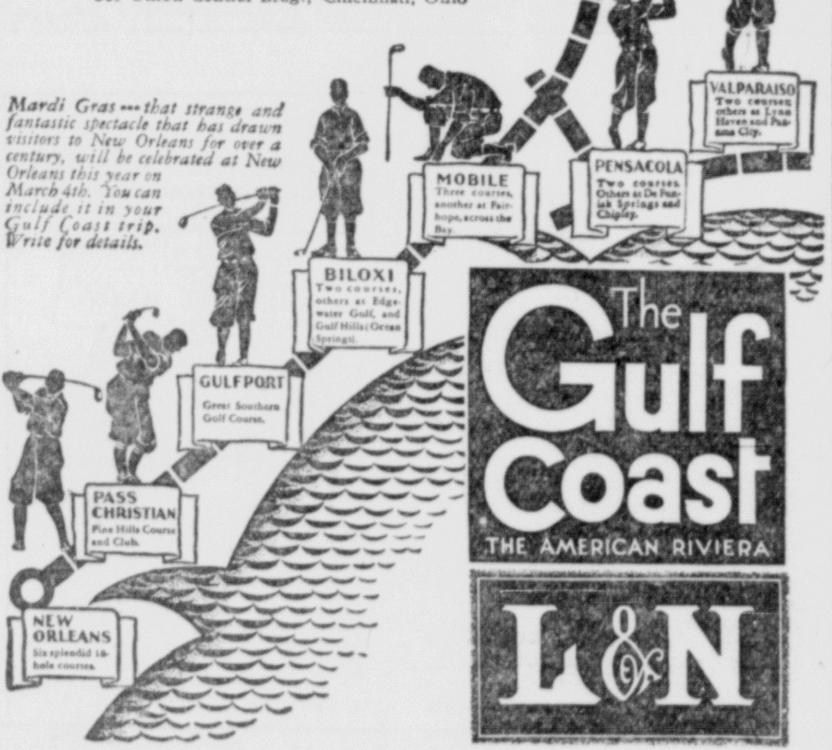

Go try this right method to reduce. Stop starving. Read the book in the box with the formula and reasons. Ask your druggist today for a $1 box of Marmola and watch the change.

Use them Tomorrow

Take your golf sticks this morning and board the all-Pullman Pan-American or other fine L. & N. trains at Cincinnati or Louisville. Tomorrow, tee off under a warm sun on the Gulf Coast.

Play a Different Course Every Day
Here are courses so close together that you can suit your game to your mood. This course today for its hazards. That one tomorrow for its layout. Any course for its velvety, sea-breeze-swept greens. Polish your game with variety of play. Reached Overnight. Remember this haven of the hazard hunter is just an over-night trip from Cincinnati or Louisville on the L. & N. There are excellent hotel accommodations. Be there tomorrow. For details write:

One Last Cup—8:30 appointment—and then—

Here's the answer!

Standard Oil of Ohio engineers do something EXTRA to Sohio Ethyl Gasoline for cold-weather use. They increase its volatility—actually give it 35% greater starting power than in summer. That means ACTION at the touch of the starter—REAL action! Also less choking, less oil dilution, less carbon—and the same smooth, knockless, long-mileage power that has made Sohio famous.

Try it! Every drop is the same at every Red-White-and-Blue Service Station and Pump in the State.
